B. Administrative Policy

During the past year a number of policies affecting the administration of the schools have been adopted by the School Board. The following are worthy of mention:

1. The provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law were accepted, and liability insurance purchased to protect the district. This law provides a measure of protection for the employees of the district in case of an accident in line of duty.

2. A school children's accident insurance plan was adopted making it possible for parents to purchase blanket accident insurance for pupils at the low rate of $1 per student per school year. Parents purchased this insurance for 331 of the 577 pupils.

3. The Code of Personnel Practices for New Hampshire Schools has been adopted for one year by both School Board and teachers. This Code aims to improve the employment relations between teachers and School Boards to the betterment of the boys and girls in the schools.

4. The question of the use of the schools by various organizations, associations, and groups for fund-raising purposes is a constantly recurring one. In order to establish an over-all policy covering the matter, the following vote of the School Board was passed December 17, 1952: "Schools do not sponsor any money- or fund-raising projects in the schools except for purely school purposes." It is the belief of the School Board and Superintendent that it is the function of the schools to teach the humanitarian values of the various fund-raising campaigns, but it is not their function to serve as an agent to actually collect the money, that being for the parents to take care of as they see fit.

5. The tuition rates for 1953-54 have been set at $285 for Grades 9 through 12, and $200 for Grades 1 through 8. Districts' liabilities for the tuition of pupils attending schools in other districts for 1952-53 are $290.52 and $173.38 respectively, and Jaffrey's rates for this year are $250 for Grades 9 through 12, $140 for Grades 7 and 8, and $75 for Grades 1 through 6.

Just after the Annual Report was written last year, Ruth A. Stevens resigned as teacher of Home Economics, and shortly afterward Arthur T. Coogan, Sr. resigned as Supervisor of Music. Mrs. Marjorie McCormack of Antrim consented to finish out the year for Miss Stevens, and Mrs. Evelyn Nute of Jaffrey took charge of the music program. Much credit is due both of these people for the fine way in which they helped out and carried on their work in the emergency.

During the summer two vacancies developed: one by Charles F. Burns, teacher of Social Studies and basketball coach, being drafted; and the other by the resignation of Walter J. Simcock, teacher of Junior High Social Studies and baseball coach. Roland R. Boucher was engaged as teacher of Social Studies and athletic coach, and Jesse L. Piper returned from the Army in September to take some of the other courses. In October Sophia Shmulsky resigned and was replaced by Hector MacLean.

During the summer of 1951 two teachers, Miss Cunningham and Miss Wallace, sought professional improvement by attending summer school. During the summer of 1952 four teachers—Mrs. Burt, Mr. Cayes, Mr. Herrick, and Miss Wallace—completed courses at summer school. During the school year eleven teachers—Mrs. Belletete, Mrs. Brown, Miss Costello, Mr. Craig, Miss Cutter, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Forcier, Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Kendall, Miss Lynch, and Miss Wallace—completed Keene Teachers College extension courses. These teachers are to be commended for striving to improve their teaching methods for the benefit of the boys and girls in their classes.

B. Program and Methods

No startling changes have been made in the program of studies nor in the methods of instruction since the last report. One course, Driver Education, has been added at the High School, and is providing much-needed instruction. Continuing effort is being made in the schools, both high and elementary, to give pupils desirable and worthwhile experiences in assuming an increasing measure of responsibility for the direction of their own activities. There is no way of training people for the responsibilities of the democratic way of life except through guided experiences. Democracy depends for its success upon the way people act, not upon the facts about democracy they can parrot. The conduct of an individual becomes acceptable to the group when the individual has learned from experience how the group responds toward him in his ever-varying pattern of action and reaction. The amount of responsibility an individual assumes for his own conduct determines his maturity. If a person allows another to carry a large part of that responsibility, he is immature. If he carries it himself, he is mature. Jaffrey pupils are being given repeated opportunities in assuming more and more responsibility for their own conduct, thereby being helped to attain normal maturity and a wholesome life.

PART III. SCHOOL PLANT

Very gratifying progress has been made during the past year in improving the school plant. At the High School the painting of all classrooms and the replacement of the old torn and worn shades have greatly improved the general appearance of the building. The color scheme is attractive and stimulating. The replacement of fifty more of the worn-out desks at this building with the new table-type desks and posture chairs now being regarded as standard equipment also helps to make the students' environment more pleasant.

At Union Hall 117 new folding chairs encourage parents' as well as pupils' attendance at school and community activities there.

At last, after fifteen years of use, the Grade School now has a clock in each classroom. Teachers and pupils are very appreciative of this $100 investment.

The special appropriation of $2,000 to improve the grounds at the Grade School has done much to relieve a very bad condition. Considerably more work should be done to eliminate the hazards of small rocks on the play area, and to provide suitable space for parking the cars of the school employees and visitors.

The installation of the oil burners at the Grade School and the changing of the piping to permit separate heating of the hall and the classrooms was completed soon after the last report was written. The heating system is now working very well, and there is considerable economy in fuel.

Next year the Grade School should be painted outside, that is, the woodwork; and if the High School is continued to be used, the woodwork on the outside of that building should receive attention also.

Ever since the playroom in the basement of the Grade School has been used for a lunchroom, the lack of a ceiling in the room has been very evident. A special article in the Warrant provides for raising money to put a ceiling into this room. The noise from activities in the auditorium now is very annoying to teachers and pupils attempting to carry on any kind of an activity in this lunchroom.

The little library in connection with Mrs. Brown's room at the Grade School has never been convenient to use. For some time it has been thought advisable to partition this room off from the classroom, and use it as a combination library and projection room. It would be very convenient to have the moving picture projector set up there all of the time to use for moving pictures, also for a general conference room.

At the High School a number of pieces of equipment have become worn and should be replaced. We should continue our plan of replacing fifty desks and chairs, a number of typewriters, one sewing machine, and the typing desks, as well as the stools in the Science room.

As the Grade School expects more pupils next year, twenty additional desks and chairs are needed in that building.

When the High School was built, electricity was not used as generally as it is today, so no provision was made for electric outlets in the classrooms. At least one should be placed in each room, and those in the shop are in need of replacement.

All of these items have been planned by the budget.

PART VI. AUXILIARY ACTIVITIES AND SPECIAL REPORTS

A. Report of the Jaffrey School Building Committee

To the Voters of the Jaffrey School District:

The Jaffrey School Building Committee has been continuing its studies in regard to the additions and alterations to be made at Conant High School, especially as outlined in the report submitted March 15, 1950.

Recent estimates of construction costs indicate that the cost of building, using the original plans and taking advantage of all reasonable economies in consruction, would be in the vicinity of $350,000.

In order to discover the feasibility of any alternate plans, the Committee studied the possibility of reducing the size of the gymnasium-auditorium to the absolute minimum needs of the High School for an assembly room and for other activities in dramatics, physical education and music. This alternate plan retains all the good features of the original plan as far as classrooms are concerned except that it eliminates the music room, and provides for a smaller shop. The approximate cost of construction according to these revised plans would be $250,000.

It appears that the facilities provided by either of these plans would meet the needs of the expected enrollment in light of most recent data and indicated trends in student enrollment, as either would normally accommodate 325 pupils without congestion. This Committee is convinced after its study that Jaffrey can, without imposing an excessive tax rate on our citizens, provide the facilities required to meet its increasing educational needs.

The Committee therefore recommends that voters prepare themselves during this next year to decide at the district meeting in March 1953 to vote the necessary building expansion.

Respectfully submitted,
ALFRED S. DESPRES
